TACOMA, WASH.— Seattle Rock Orchestra (SRO) pays tribute to legendary singer-songwriter and actor David Bowie in a concert at Tacoma's historic Pantages Theater on October 29 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale now.

With a program that explores his early glam years as Ziggy Stardust and culminates with a string of dance hits from his middle and late career, the concert will commemorate the expansive body of work left behind by the beloved rock and roll icon, who passed away earlier this year.

Patrons are encouraged to come dressed in costume (Bowie-inspired or otherwise) for the Halloween weekend show.

About Seattle Rock Orchestra

Seattle Rock Orchestra (SRO) was born out of the desire to marry the unabashed performance energy of rock n'roll with the broader palette of musical nuances treasured in classical music. Seattle Rock Orchestra (SRO) was born out of the desire to marry the unabashed performance energy of rock and roll with the broader palette of musical nuances treasured in classical music. The resulting concert experience transcends genres, taking audiences on a sublime musical journey.

Seattle Rock Orchestra is dedicated to creating performances that are spectacular, fun, educational, and of exceptional quality. SRO celebrates and perpetuates the orchestral tradition while exploring the rich history of rock and pop music; presents new works by emerging artists; engages in collaborations across genres and artistic disciplines; and offers exciting educational programs for youth.

Now a professional 50+ piece orchestra with strings, woodwinds, brass, percussion and a rotating cast of guest vocalists, SRO is embarking on its sixth full season of programming.
